RABBINIC REFLECTIONS

It was so exciting to share our Chanukah dinner with so many of you on Wednesday evening. A week before the event our reservation list was rather short, but when the evening finally arrived, we had over 150 people celebrating Chanukah together. There was a real sense of joy and unity as we celebrated this joyous holiday as a congregation. As we commemorated the rededication of the Temple in Jerusalem so long ago, it almost felt like a rededication of and to our own Temple.

While some express concern for the future of Congregation Children of Israel and the Jewish community in Augusta in general, and it is true that the numbers of Jews in the CSRA has declined over the years, the attendance and excitement that evening indicated that we have a bright future ahead. It was especially wonderful to see so many young people with us that night. We had almost 30 children under the age of 13 present and several teenagers! Seeing young couples with their babies and toddlers celebrating together with our senior members demonstrated the potential of congregation. We encourage those who attended the Chanukah dinner, but who are not yet officially members of our congregation, to call Elyse Kronowski, our Temple Administrator, to formalize your membership.

From the lighting of all the Menorahs, to the singing led by Marc Gottlieb, to the children making Chanukah Menorahs with my wife, Francine, and even to my little "miracle" with the pitcher of water (symbolizing the oil) which emptied out again and again, but yet seemed to be replenished each time, it was an exciting and memorable evening.

A very special thank to Ila Abramovitz who coordinated the delicious dinner, including turkey and latkes and to the many people who helped with the cooking, the set up, and all the other aspects of the celebration. On Monday evening the kitchen was crowded to the point of overflowing with all the Temple members who came to help.

Part of why it was so exciting to see all the young people here for Chanukah was because I had just come back from the Union for Reform Biennial in Washington, D.C. It was the largest URJ Biennial in history with over 5,000 people. During the Biennial, we recognized the work of Rabbi Eric Yoffie, the retiring President of the URJ and the installed Rabbi Rick Jacobs as the new URJ President. Rabbi Jacobs' main focus of his address was the new Campaign for Youth Engagement. He spoke about how we do not see our teenager after Bar Mitzvah and how few Jewish young adults in their 20s and 30s are involved in Jewish life. While the average age of our members at Congregation Children of Israel may be above the average age in Reform congregation throughout the country, we have recently seen a much larger percentage of young adults coming to our services, and they were surely here for Chanukah. Almost all of the post Bar and Bat Mitzvah students in our congregation have come to at least some of our teens meetings and very few families have left the congregation after the Bar or Bat Mitzvah ceremony of their children. There are very few congregations that can say as much about the teens and young families in their synagogues. We still have a great deal to do to keep our young people involved and to increase the involvement of all our members, but the Chanukah dinner illustrated their great potential which exists in our congregation.

As advertised elsewhere in this newsletter, the Progressive Religious Coalition again this year is sponsoring an interfaith service celebrating Martin Luther King's Birthday. The service will be held this year on Thursday, January 12 at Reid Memorial Presbyterian Church. I look forward to seeing many of you at this important community event.

I hope you have had a very happy Chanukah and that you will remember that, along with the rededication of the Temple in Judaism, we are all called to rededicate ourselves to our Temple and to our Judaism.

President's Message

I hope you all had a great Hanukkah celebration with family and friends. There were lots of things going on at the Temple this past month, including preparation for our Temple Hanukkah dinner on December 21, the first night of Hanukkah. The Brotherhood and Sisterhood are to be thanked for sponsoring this event at no cost to the Temple or congregants. We all appreciate Sisterhood President Jean Brody and Brotherhood President Mike Cherry for their work and support. Also I must acknowledge Steve "The Rock" Nathan for his organizing the Brotherhood Latke preparation and cooking for the Hanukkah dinner. Steve is always there to help whether it is greeting people at services on Friday nights, serving on the Temple Board as head of the Religious Practices Committee, supervising construction of the sukkah, cooking dinners on the grill or in the kitchen, or keeping Saturday Torah study organized. In his 'day job' Steve is a highly respected nuclear physicist at the US Department of Energy's Savannah River National Laboratory, serving our nation as well.

Heather Altman has been busy as Chair of the Membership Committee. Heather is organizing a special Shabbat dinner for new members on Friday, January 6. We have 10 new members thanks to Heather's, Rabbi Klensin's, and Temple administrator Elyse Kronowski's efforts. Please plan to join us for this special event and welcome our new members so call the Temple office for your reservation. Guests are of course always welcome.

I had the pleasure of volunteering with several Temple members including Dr. Lou Scharff at the Golden Harvest Soup Kitchen over Thanksgiving weekend. Many Golden Harvest regulars and staff know Lou from his many years of volunteering and welcome him by name. As most of you know, Lou received the 2011 Humanitarian of the Year Award at the Augusta Jewish Community Center for his tireless community service. Lou is not resting on his laurels, still helping to serve those who need it most.

Lots of great activities are coming up at the Temple in 2012. Please watch all Temple announcements and this Bulletin for up coming events including a fun dance with DJ, food festival, opportunities to volunteer in our community, our annual Casino Night, a Congregation Sunday Dinner, as well as educational classes, Torah study, and services.

I really appreciate all those who let me know that they enjoy reading this Bulletin. Editor/Publisher Marc Gottlieb is of course the one who 'puts it all together'. Thank-you Marc!

Shalom, Robin Brigmon

ADULT EDUCATION

Jewish Learning is Not Just for Kids

A New Tuesday Evening Series Beginning on January 17 at 7:00 PM

Modern Jewish Thought and Practices

Whether you have been learning about Judaism and Jewish life since you were a child or have only recently begin to you study of Judaism, join us on Tuesday evenings to explore Jewish ideas and practices, both ancient and modern, traditional and creative. Contact Rabbi Klensin for more information (rabbi@cclaugusta.org or 706-736-3140)

TORAH STUDY

The study of Torah is equal to all the other commandments combined
(Talmud Shabbat 127a)

Return to Torah study

After a break of a few weeks, we will be returning to our weekly Shabbat Morning Torah Study.

Join us on January 5 at 9:30 AM for

- A 30 minute Shabbat morning service
- Interactive discussion of the Torah portion
- A chance to share you thoughts or just listen
- Multimedia highlights
- Learning how the Prophets speak to us today
- And a special Kiddush lunch

Sunday Mornings: Jewish Values

Sunday mornings, 11:15-12:15
January 8, 29, & February 5, 12, 26
At Congregation Children of Israel

Rabbi Klensin will be presenting a series on Jewish values. Each week we will explore a different value, such as justice, mercy, visiting the sick, comforting mourners, acts of loving-kindness, and redemption. While the children are in Sunday School, their parents and other adults, have an opportunity to increase their own understanding of Judaism and how we can live its values in our daily lives.

Sunday School classes for the children are moving this semester to AYS, but these adult education session will meet our at Temple. We will conclude by 12:15 PM so those with children in Sunday School can return to AYS to pick up their children.

Temple Teenagers

Those of you who have been around Congregation Children of Israel for a while probably know the special significance of the word "CITY" as used in our synagogue. Our national youth movement is NFTY—the North American Federation of Temple Youth (formerly the National Federation of Temple Youth). The local groups usually have names ending with "TY" for Temple Youth. So our youth group has been know as CITY (Children of Israel Temple Youth).

As a larger number of our teenagers are attending our Sunday evening discussions and other activities, and some are going to regional NFTY events, our youth group is being revived and you can expect to hear more about CITY activities.

Our teenagers will be meeting this coming month on January 8 and 29.
